

Why AJ Bell Platinum SIPP

Introduction to AJ Bell

AJ Bell was set up in 1995 as an actuarial consultancy and bespoke SIPP and SSAS provider. SIPP and SSAS have always been, and remain, core parts of the company, though AJ Bell has also grown to become one of the largest providers of investment platforms and stockbroker services in the UK, looking after some £26.1 billion of assets.

Today our bespoke SIPP and SSAS products come under the AJ Bell Platinum brand. For more information, please visit our dedicated website www.ajbellplatinum.co.uk.

Why SIPP?

A wide range of investment opportunities are available within the AJ Bell Platinum SIPP, including cash deposits, quoted equities, fixed interest stocks and collective investments. The SIPP can also purchase UK commercial land and property, which can then be leased to the member's company or a third party. A collection of SIPPs can jointly acquire property with no limit on the number of investors involved, making them an attractive vehicle for co-directors and partners in a business.

Testimonials

The best way to understand the value of our service is to hear from people who already use it.

We have used AJ Bell for a number of property purchase transactions for several years and the standard of their service has been consistently excellent. On this occasion AJ Bell's service was outstanding right from the start and the transaction completed within the limited time available, proving several other parties wrong. Overall AJ Bell was a pleasure to work with and their service surpassed even their own high standards on this occasion.

Ian Platts, Campbell Harrison Ltd, Sheffield

I have worked with AJ Bell on SIPP related property transactions on a regular basis for a number of years and have always found them to be extremely helpful and efficient during the process, taking a pragmatic approach to problem solving whilst ensuring full compliance with pension scheme regulations in order to protect the member's interests.

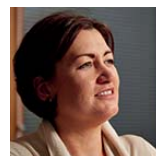

Stewart Coles, Sydney Mitchell LLP, Birmingham

AJ Bell have been acting as professional trustees of my SIPP for many years, during which the SIPP has been involved in several complex investments and property transactions. I am happy to recommend them and have always found their knowledge, advice and service to be of the highest standard.
